

One of the most famous Schulmerich installations is the National Evening Hymn Memorial Carillon at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery. This great carillon was given to the people of the United States by the American Veterans of World War II.

In addition to serving churches and chapels of every religious faith, Schulmerich carillon and bell installations have gained wide acceptance in colleges and universities throughout the land. At such outstanding institutions of learning as the University of Minnesota, the University of Pennsylvania, the College of Puget Sound, Boston University, the famous Westminster Choir College of Princeton, New Jersey, the University of Mississippi, and so on, Schulmerich bells add their voice to campus activities.

Today, Schulmerich bells ring out from such widely scattered points as a military chapel in Japan, a mission in Alaska, a cathedral in Paris, a university in Puerto Rico, a church in Southern Rhodesia. American bells in the form of Schulmerich modern carillon and bell instruments are now heard throughout the globe and the title of "The Bell Capital of the World" is now held by the little town of Sellersville, Pennsylvania, just a few miles from the home of the most famous bell in the world--the Liberty Bell!
