Ferris State University Power Outage Update

As of 6:30 p.m. today (Jan. 13), a blown fuse has been replaced and power has been restored to the southwest area of Ferris State University's Big Rapids campus.

The power outage affecting northeast campus was caused by a transformer failure. A replacement transformer is en route to Big Rapids and power restoration is expected by midnight.

Updates will be posted on www.ferris.edu as they become available.
