Ferris Heavy Equipment department awards outstanding students

BIG RAPIDS – Each year, Ferris State University recognizes the achievements of its outstanding students. The University's Heavy Equipment department Chair Keith Cripe recently honored two of his department's students.

Dacey Beard of Comstock Park received the outstanding student award for the Associate in Applied Science Heavy Equipment Technology program. Kyle Roggenbuck of Harbor Beach received the outstanding student award for the Bachelor of Science Heavy Equipment Service Engineering program.

Selection is based on the vote of the department faculty. Criteria for the award include demonstration of personal and professional ethics, positive mental attitude, academic achievements, representation of the current and future values of the programs, and contributions to advancement of the programs.
