Shifting Skills to Navigate the Changing Horizon: Finding Our Way in New Biomedical Research and Healthcare Environments

Join us for a webcast which will introduce information professionals to some of the emerging trends in biomedical research and healthcare environments that present new opportunities for partnership, collaboration, and support. Translational science, e-science, and electronic health records offer new and expanded roles for information professionals in data management, curation, sharing and integration and new opportunities to educate health and information technology professionals in the meaningful use of health information via electronic health record systems.

Date/Time: Wednesday, April 20, 2011, 1:00 p.m.–2:30 p.m., CST

GMR Lending Library

The GMR Lending Library has a robust collection of resources available to member libraries at no cost. If you were unable to participate in the most recent MLA Webcast, or are unable to participate in upcoming webcasts, you can borrow a copy of the program from the GMR lending library. MLA credit is available. Use the program at a staff meeting, gain MLA credit without traveling, and engage staff in a lively topical conversation. To reserve library resources, go to <http://nnlm.gov/gmr/> and click on the Member Services drop down menu. Click on GMR Lending Library and search the online catalog. For additional information contact Max Anderson at 312-996-2464 or max@UIC.EDU.

GMR Supports NLM Symposium

The GMR is providing funding for two network members to participate in the NLM Disaster Information Outreach Symposium, March 29 - 30, 2011. The event will be held at the National Institutes of Health campus in Bethesda, Maryland, and is sponsored by NLM, the Medical Library Association, and the Special Libraries Association.

The symposium will feature research, project reports, and personal experiences of librarians active in managing health information and library resources to improve disaster outcomes. Librarians' actions in response to the H1N1 influenza outbreak, the Haiti earthquake, major U.S. hurricanes, and local emergency events will highlighted.

In addition, the GMR is sponsoring an Emergency Preparedness Summit at the UIC campus on April 8, 2011, in Chicago.
