Explore Technology Careers at Ferris Open House

BIG RAPIDS – Enjoy math, science and solving problems? Do you like to design and build? Than an education in technology could be what you are looking for. On Saturday, April 25, 2009, Ferris State University's College of Engineering Technology is hosting an open house for you to learn about careers in technology.

The morning event starts at 9 a.m., in the Granger Center for Construction and HVACR and will conclude with lunch at noon. During the morning you can explore and tour the programs that interest you. Faculty, students and admission representatives will be on hand to answer your questions.

The event is free, but pre-registration is required. Please visit www.ferris.edu/technology and click on the registration link.
