Dean Comments:

There are four slots on a digitization effort at the University of Michigan in the Spring. See the Dean if interested.

FLITE was mentioned today in an article in the Chornicle on Library design

Workload policy document drafts are available from the Dean's office if you need one.

Anne:

Anne opened a discussion of distance education librarian duties as they relate to University goals. Ferris' direction is increasing the number of distance education courses and the infrastructure to support these students is currently not in place. These ideas need to be incorporated into the new position description for the distance ed librarian.
